All About Strange Man
He Cures and Kills
A Long Road to Go
Does Education Fail
By Arthur Brisbane

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—Kag Fawcett, 37, of M'AL David Bernstein, Brooklyn tailor, deliberately killed a man against whom he held no grudge, pushing him off an elevated railroad platform in Brooklyn. No one saw him. He confessed to the police.
Insane, probably.

The law-making machinery of New York decided to kill Frank Pia in the electric chair. Arnie appendicitis threatened the electric chair program.

A good surgeon, hired at public expense, restored Pia to the death house. "Out of kindness," he is allowed to play cards with his partner in crime, Michael Scifano, a wall separating them.

Strange use of science, killing men by electricity, saving their lives by surgery, that the electricity may kill them, treating them kindly while waiting for the chair.

Earth's 1,500,000,000 people are not QUITE CIVILIZED YET.
Further details concerning the massacre of 3000 Mohammedans by Chinese in Kanton, Manchuria show that the human race has still some distance to travel.

Of late Mohammedans had been murdering Chinese. Then came famine, pest, disorders, among the Mohammedans, who were invited by Chinese officials to come to Tachow for a conference with promises of roasted barley.

When they came, men from 15 to 50 were separated from the women, taken outside the walls, and "2000 of them butchered like sheep." When they saw that they were to be killed, the Mohammedans asked no mercy.

After the famine, the Mohammedans will doubtless murder 10 or 20 Chinese for each Mohammedan killed in the massacre.

So it goes among human beings, most cruel and bloodthirsty of all animals.

In Palestine, 150 Jews attended the wedding of an Arab chief's nephew. Bedouin dances, with Arab songs, were arranged in honor of the guests.

The Arab chief, a sheik, according to Arab tradition, offering to the guests as a sign of friendship.

The Jewish Telegraph Agency conducted a hospital sign of future friendship between Jews and Arabs.

While Bedouins and Jews were staging their songs and eating the sheep, Jacob Cohen, 65 years old, returning from a wedding in Jerusalem, was stabbed to death, without cause, by Arab that fled and have not been identified.

Reverend Russell, philosopher, and mathematics, will discuss education with Will Durant, who writes about philosophy.

Mr. Russell says education is a failure.

Too few men teach, and too many women teachers make boys effeminate. That's probably what Mr. Russell's troglodyte ancestor said when women were telling little boys that they ought not to kill their neighbors, and crack open their thigh bones to get at the marrow.

American education, says Mr.
Russell, is controlled "by ultra-national business men and religious sects," whereas it ought to be controlled by "heavenly men."
Our children are taught "right and wrong."

Loss of Millions to the Cotton Crop in Two States; Seven-Inch Rainfall Is Reported

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 27.—Following a downpour here in 24 hours of 6.88 inches of rain, Augusta today was cut off from all highway and train communication.

The Savannah river, which separates Augusta from South Carolina, was the highest stage in its history at 20 a. m., the gauge showed 43 feet.

The lower of Hamburg, across the river from Augusta on the South Carolina side, was under 12 feet of water. Residents had fled to higher ground.

Highways out of Augusta in all directions were impassable. In-trains had left the city since late last night.

The weather bureau predicted the Savannah river would go up to 40 feet by midnight.

It was thought the city proper would be in no danger unless the river passed 50 feet, which is not believed likely.

La Bourget, Sept. 27 (AP)—Kosat-vian, from Paris early today broke the world record for French air race, and his friend, Maurice Bellet, in the second place.
Question Mark, on a long-distance flight.

They aim to break the world's record and put the pilots down somewhere in the Sahara.

The start was made at 8:16 a. m., returning military air shortly attended that Coste really was headed east.

Later this afternoon he was reported over Cologne.

The last flight Coste took aboard was fishing tackle. He has no wireless to keep in touch with civilization, but his fishhooks will help him if he should be forced to land in the river district of North Rhine.

Coste announced his immediate destination as Trieste on Lake Balat.

London, Sept. 27 (AP)—Edward Bernat, an Austrian, who began a Chenoweth swim last night from Dover, was reported by the Exchange Telegraph to have abandoned the effort today when three miles from the coast of France.

The new schedule will establish a 30-cent "service charge" for every meter. It will set the price of gas at a flat rate of 10 cents per 100 cubic feet. It will increase the cost of gas for 70 per cent of the Boston company's customers, according to the company. Boston city engineers have estimated that 90 per cent of consumers will pay bigger bills in consequence of the change.

The commission's decision to allow the inauguration of the rate boost October 1 was announced in-day after two conferences between members of the commission and representative of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. and the city of Boston.

Parents Away at Work When Flames Spread From the Stove at Danforth

Danforth, Me., Sept. 27 (AP)— Six children, their ages ranging from two to eight years, were burned to death here today when their home was destroyed while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Munsey, were away at work.

The scene of the tragedy was on the outskirts of Danforth. Early this morning the father of the family left for a nearby farm where he was engaged in potato picking.
Shortly afterwards Mrs. Munsey, after lighting the kitchen stove, left for her work at a neighboring house and the children were left alone.

Flames suddenly breaking from the wooden house were noticed by neighbors at 7 o'clock, but the residence was so enveloped by flames and reported that would be practically impossible to reach the children.

CLAIMS TITLE FOR SHARKEY

New York, Sept. 27.—Johnny Buckley today claimed the world's heavyweight championship for Jack Sharkey, who knocked out Tommy Loughran in three rounds at the Yankee Stadium.

"I believe Sharkey has proved his right to the vacated title," said Buckley. "Knocking out Lough-ran, he defeated his leading rival for the championship. Sharkey has always met anybody named by the promoters. He is the only heavyweight who had the courage and ability to defeat George Godfrey, the negro champion."

"I am ready to match Sharkey with any heavyweight who the public believes has a chance to defeat him."

Naval Officers Face Inquiry in Shear Geneva Expose

ASK ABOUT SHEAR

Reporters Says They Were Friendly With Propagandist at the Arms Conference

Washington, Sept. 27 (INS)—Naval officers who were members of the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference will be called to answer to a report that they conferred with William B. Shear, the agent of American shipbuilders, when the Senate naval committee resumed its investigation of Shear's activities last week.

Naval officers were named by Drew Pearson, a newspaper reporter, as being intimate terms with Shear at Geneva. They included Rear Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, now attached to the Navy General Board, Rear Admiral Frank C. Caldwell, now commanding a battleship division of the fleet, and Commander Harold A. Tamm, also attached to the general board, and who has been one of the parties who assisted in arriving at the recently negotiated British-American cruise agreement.

Pending their appearance before the committee, the officers have declined to comment today on Pearson's testimony. Members of the committee particularly are interested in Pearson's statement that Rear Admiral Reeves frequently expressed the hope that the general conference would fail to reach an agreement on limiting the navy. Great Britain, Japan and America.

The committee has determined either to conduct the investigation into Shear and his Geneva activities before President MacDonald of Great Britain reaches America next week or to adjourn his hearing during the President's visit.

Torch Slayer Hears Lawyer Plead to Save Him From the Chair

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 27—Defense counsel asserted in summation today that the evidence against Earl Pearson, charged with the murder of his wife, was not sufficient to convict a second time.

He associated a policeman who was one of the chief state witnesses and who admitted on cross-examination he had not told the jury the whole truth in recounting a confession.

That cheap con, said the defense, was guilty of a deliberate and premeditated attempt to murder this boy by his lying testimony, and it is on evidence like this you are asked to send him to the electric chair. You wouldn't accept it if it were like this.

Pearson came into court on this day that might decide his fate, composed but pale. He stood quietly at the bar, his hands behind his back, and he listened to the lawyer's plea that the jury spare him from the electric chair.

Before you can say he is guilty, you must be satisfied that this boy did this deed with premeditation and deliberate intent and that he was guilty as charged.

Police Take Sweetheart of Harry Malaga Held in Jail Here

"Blinder" Martin, sweetheart of Harry Malaga, held in connection with the murder of Samuel Reinstein, was arrested today in Easton, Pa., by department of justice agents and Inspector Timothy Murphy of Boston.

The girl, who accompanied Malaga on the automobile ride during which Reinstein was "put on the spot," was arrested on a secret indictment returned by the federal grand jury in this city.

After telling her story to the authorities, she was held in $5000 bail, which she was unable to procure, and complete details were wired to U. S. Atty. Frederick H. Tamm and his chief assistant, Herbert Thompson by the federal grand jury.

A similar report was sent by Inspector Donovan to Dist. Atty. E. J. Connelley, who has been in Pennsylvania for some time.

WAS WITH MALAGA

"Blinder" as she is known in the Pennsylvania white slave racket, admitted to the officers that she had been with Malaga in South Easton from June 28 to September 19, on which date they drove to Easton.

At Easton, Atty. Frederick T. Doyle wired to Chief of Police Donnelly and to the federal grand jury, asking for a warrant to arrest her on a charge of being an accessory to the slaying of Reinstein.

Her arrest was a cause for elation on the part of the officers, as they believed it would furnish them with positive information concerning the slaying of Reinstein.

TWO GIRLS QUESTIONED

In the morning two girls, one known as "Tough Becky," were questioned for four hours at the federal building in connection with the white slave inquiry resulting from the investigation of the murder.

Atty. U. S. Atty. Thompson, Asst. Atty. Atty. Doyle and the department of justice agents, were in the building in connection with the white slave inquiry resulting from the investigation of the murder.

Fear Hurricane Will Hit Nassau Again

Miami, Fla., Sept. 27 (AP)—Concern for the safety of the southern Florida coast which was devastated by the Washington weather bureau today, was replaced by fears that the West Indian disturbance, now reported south of Andros Island, Bahamas, would affect the keys of the peninsula, or recurve and again approach Nassau, capital of the Bahamas.

While the Washington bureau was unable to fix the probable path which the storm would pursue in a message to its Jacksonville office, it advised residents of the Florida, everglades region, that they might safely return to their homes for the night.

At the center of disturbance, described by meteorologists as an unsteady and erratic in its movement, progress of winds of mild gale force were felt in the islands of the Bahamas group north Florida, and it was considered likely that similar winds, blowing at the rate of 39 to 45 miles an hour, would hit the mainland late in day.

church before the flames were discovered. Two milkmen, William Cokkino of Hanover, and Carlo Di Stato of North at saw smoke pouring through a crevice in the masonry doorway and sounded the first alarm.

At about the same time, Rev. Charles J. White, the curate, looked from a window in the rectory, which is directly behind the church, facing on Clark st., and saw the flames.

Fr. White was preparing to say the 6 o'clock mass. He ran from the rectory and entered the church through a rear doorway, being met by a blast of flame and smoke.

By that time practically the entire interior of the main church was ablaze and flames were working up into the wooden steeple, reaching the main altar, the curate hastily gathered children and sacred host and such altar ornaments as he could carry and fought his way to safety with them.

Holmes and Dorchester, a member of Engine 8 crew and one of the first inside the blazing edifice, was struck by a falling chandelier, which he took as a warning to leave the place. He was seen to be hurrying from the church, carrying the skull and an injured boy.

REVEREND THREE ALARMS

The Rev. Francis V. Murphy, pastor of the church, who succeeded the Rev. Charles Murphy about a year ago, was on the scene before the flames arrived, and with the Rev. John J. Murphy, who was conducting a novena to St. Francis, he was seen to be holding in check a crowd of several thousand that quickly gathered.

Immediately after his arrival, Fire Chief Daniel Bennett ordered five additional alarms. Leaders were called to the roof of the main building and flames succeeded in reaching the steeple.

St. Stephen's church was only recently completely renovated throughout. For more than a century it has been a landmark on the Little Flower side of the city, the site of the remaining structure of the former architecture of the State House being the most notable feature.

The daily novena exercises which were being held at the church will be continued at St. John's school, 820 st. North St., at 12-13, 8:30, 9:30 and 7-8 p. m.

CEASARE ROSSI, FOE OF MUSSOLINI, IS SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS

CONFESSION OF TREASON IN ROME

Former Right Hand Man of Duce Accused Later in Matteotti Killing

Rome, Sept. 27.—Cesare Rossi, former right-hand man of Premier Mussolini, and Fascist leader, was found guilty of treason and sentenced today and sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment.

Rossi admitted writing articles and letters as well as frequenting places where anti-Fascist and pro-Soviet groups gathered, but he claimed his activities abroad were instigated solely by personal poverty. He said he had to get money to live.

"I always tried to sell lies to the anti-Fascist groups abroad," Rossi said.

The prosecution declared that Rossi's intercepted correspondence showed he was in contact, not only with political exiles, but with Italian Communists, French Free Masons and the Soviet Union. He was charged with the chief of the government.

The public prosecutor said he might have aided the death penalty under existing laws for the safety of the head of the government, but that he demanded only 30 years' imprisonment.

The tribunal took only half an hour for its verdict.

The Matteotti affair of five years ago involved the killing of Giacomo Matteotti, a Socialist deputy who was a severe critic of the Fascist regime. Matteotti was kidnapped by a party of men in June, 1924, and it was not until two months later that his body was identified. There were 30 arrests, but 25 were eventually freed while five others were held on a charge of homicide.

IN MATTEOTTI AFFAIR

The trial opened in March, 1928, when the defendants admitted kidnapping Matteotti. They denied they had murdered him. Two of the defendants were acquitted, but three were convicted of unintentional homicide. These were sentenced to short terms in prison.

Rossi had been charged with being the chief conspirator in the Matteotti affair, served 18 months in prison and was released under a decree of amnesty. After going to Paris he wrote a series of articles attacking Premier Mussolini and his associates as the authors of a reign of terror in Italy and accusing Mussolini himself of being responsible for the death of Matteotti.

FEAR FOUL PLAY IN RIOT'S DEATH

Salem, Sept. 27.—Fearing foul play, police have been assigned to investigate the death of John H. Sullivan, Jr., who was shot to death in the South river, less than an hour after he left home, 37 Hancock St., to go to work today.

A riot on the side of Sullivan's head, led his father, John H. Sullivan, Sr., to believe he had been attacked. He said his son left home in his usual good spirits.

Medical Examiner James C. Simpson began an autopsy this afternoon.

The last person to see Sullivan alive so far as was learned, was Henry Rybicki, a lunch cart man. He said he waved to Sullivan, as was his custom, but received no response.

There was no reason for Sullivan to turn off Washington St., which was on the way to the Salem Club, and head for the river, where the body floating in the river between the Salem bridge and the Salem electric light plant.

She summoned Thomas C. Charney and James C. Simpson, who picked the body up in a row boat. Dr. Simpson ordered the corpse removed to an undertaking parlor.

Mr. Finnegan, who was Mary Eugene Carr, of Milton, presented with a daughter weighing seven pounds, four ounces. The bride of Dorchester kind had his mind made up for a boy, but it was a nice recovery.

It's not a boy, sure enough. But it's a honey, he said.

Fire Causes $125,000 Loss in Old St. Stephen's Church, North End

The Rev. Francis V. Murphy, pastor of St. Stephen's, views damage done by three-alarm fire and indicates to firemen where loss is heaviest. He is accompanied by Fire Chief Daniel F. Sennott and an aide. The fire started from an undetermined cause behind the altar in the basement and spread rapidly upward into the main church before it was discovered.

Sixth Victim of New Baby Disease

New York, Sept. 27 (INS)—A rare, exceptional, the acute variety of sleeping sickness that has broken out here, claimed its sixth victim today. Michael Egan, a baby of two months, died in Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Douglas Symers, director of laboratory of Bellevue Hospital, and Dr. Charles O. Brown, pathologist of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of Boston, have submitted to the American Journal of Diseases of Children a paper describing the disease. They declare no cure has been discovered for it.

Tariff to Make Turkey Free; U.S. Goods Hit

Angora, Turkey, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Turkish republic is about to celebrate the disappearance of the last shadow of foreign capitulation and establishment of what the Turkish press calls "full economic independence" with enforcement of the 1 of a Turkish tariff.

The treaty of Lausanne abolished those capitulations of the Ottoman Empire which gave foreigners extraordinary judicial, political, and religious rights, but maintained to a certain degree commercial capitulations by stipulating existing Turkish duties on foreign imports should remain in force until 1929.

Now that what some Turkish nationalists call "the year of final deliverance from the foreign yoke" has arrived, Turkey, for the first time since 1841 when Sultan Mahmud signed the capitulatory decree of Muharrir, has been able to exercise entire freedom in the matter of customs.

This tariff, the first independent Turkish tariff within 58 years, is higher than the tariff maintained by the treaty of Lausanne, the young republic's three times.

The tariff is definitely protective of the production of those articles in which Turkey has a comparative advantage.

On the other hand, agricultural implements, machines and raw materials developed in Turkey will be duty free, and the existing rate will be sensibly lowered on such articles of necessity to modernized Turkey as typewriters and the smaller makes of automobiles.

American imports unfavorably affected are chiefly of luxury automobiles, shoes, leather, and furs. The duty on second-hand clothes, millions of bales of which have been imported from the United States, will be lowered from 10 to 5 percent.

The prohibitive rate may weigh Americans being turned to the rough goods of the United States, but the Turkish manufacturers, duty on finer grades of shoes leather will jump from 10 to 20 percent.

ROBINSON PUTS SHIPPING ACT IN POWER AS WRONG

Democratic Leader Charges the Flexible Tariff Offers Industry No Relief

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, said in the Senate today that those urging retention of the flexible provisions in the tariff as a "prompt remedy" for correcting mistakes in rates between sessions of Congress were speaking without foundation in either "fact or conviction" for supporting their conclusions.

Robinson opened the fourth day of debate on the clause which authorizes the President to change duties up or down within a range of 50 per cent after investigation by the tariff commission.

Although President Hoover has thrown his influence behind retention of the provision, a vote on the question is expected to be close. Republican leaders look for this vote early next week.

CITES LONG DELAYS

The flexible provision, Robinson contended, not only proved a quick method of giving emergency tariff relief and never could as long as the cost of production formula was used. In most cases, he said, it took the commission two years to report on applications for alterations.

After censuring all that time the President often refused to act on the reports, he said.

It was "mere pretense and subterfuge," he argued, to pretend that the clause worked to speed individual tariff changes between congressional sessions.

Chairman Spout of the finance committee placed in the record a letter from the American Farm Bureau Federation favoring the flexible principle but urging a deliberation to permit the President to take articles from the tariff and place them on the free list.

Robinson asked Spout if he feared such a change, and Spout replied he approved the amendment because it would insure virtually the same as existing law.

WALSH WANTS DATA

Approximately 130 names of corporations dealing in lumber, located in the South, were submitted to the treasury today on behalf of Senator Walsh, Democratic Massachusetts, who desires to obtain individual data on these corporations for use in consideration of the tariff.

The list was in addition to a revised list of 400 corporations sent the treasury by the finance committee.

Taunton Beauty's Cry Jails Masher in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 27 (INS)—Joseph Fulla, 39, "brass-bonneted" beauty, who presides at the door of a swank apartment house on 124 St., learned a lot about women from Miss Josephine Horwood, 21-year-old blonde beauty and former aerobic dancer.

Miss Horwood, who recently came to New York from Taunton, Mass., and who for some unknown reason has been overlooked by the Ziegfelds, was one of the central figures in a wild scene on an L train filled with fight fans.

Fulla, a sad, slender, and unattractive man, was the other principal, and was adjudged the villain when the case adjourned to night court.

The trouble started when Fulla found himself crowded together with the Massachusetts beauty in the cramped confines of an L car bound uptown.

Suddenly they were startled by the girl's shriek. She fought her way to the platform and demanded that the guard have an officer arrest Fulla.

The guard took the girl to Judge Sherman Fulla forgot to act like a gentleman while sitting beside her and that she was greatly upset by his conduct.

Fulla denied the girl's charges, but magistrate found him guilty of disorderly conduct.

CLEMENCEAU TO 'DIE THIS YEAR'

Paris, Sept. 27.—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau, "The Tiger of France," who will be 89 tomorrow, is not going to celebrate his birthday in any special way.

M. Clemenceau fears he is going to die before the year is out. He is not worrying, the ex-premier in both body and philosophy.

Speaking with his friend, Emile Bury, the old statesman said: "My mother died when she was 89 years old. My father was 87. I was dying. I rather think shall die before the year is out."

Nab German Brothers in $7,500,000 Fraud

Berlin, Sept. 27 (AP)—Three brothers named Sklarek, prominent merchants and race horse owners, who have won the German derby and other big racing events, were arrested today on a charge of defrauding the City of Berlin of $7,500,000 by the issue of worthless bills of exchange and forged documents.

The Sklareks are manufacturers of uniforms and clothing for employees of the city of Berlin.

SHIPPING ACT 12

U. S. MARINE BUILDING OF TWO $50,000 LINERS

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The government's effort to build up and restore the prestige of the American merchant marine through the operation of the Jones-White act is bringing extensive results, although the quarter billion construction loan fund it set up has been available for only a short time.

Less than a year has passed since the first loan was made, but the shipping board already has appropriated nearly one-sixth of the fund to make possible the construction of modern passenger and cargo vessels. And a much greater demand for construction funds is expected by the board as soon as difficulties growing out of obscurity in the act's language in regard to mail contracts are adjusted.

The construction plans of the United States Lines, Inc., operators of the L. A. Line, call for the early building of two $50,000 "super Leviathans"—ships which it is hoped will challenge the supremacy of the German liner Bremen, which has a capacity of 20,000 tons and will cost seven or eight millions.

The Dollar Lines, which have just received more than $10,000,000 for the construction of two combination passenger-cargo ships, have made a contract to build five more similar ships, and the San Francisco Steamship Line has agreed to build three speedy passenger ships for the San Francisco to Manila run.

These ships alone, if approved by the board, would insure an increase in tonnage of more than $50,000,000.

McDONALD'S EFF

FOR U. S. TODAY

London, Sept. 27.—Departure of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald for America tonight will be anything but an uneventful proceeding. His departure is expected to be in the narrow street in front of the premier's residence, Downing Street, and his small party, including his daughter Lilibet, proceeded from his residence to the Admiralty station.

Scores of Premier MacDonald's countrymen have come down from Scotland for the occasion.

David S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will accompany Premier MacDonald as far as the station. He will be met by the cabinet and leaders of the Labor party will be on hand for the farewell. The boat train for Southampton departs at 8:30 p. m., and the Berengaria is scheduled to sail at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

He looked the vessel, Premier MacDonald and his party will occupy the main saloon of the liner, the Kaiser when the ship was the German Imperator.

Solest Points of Bidding

Auction: South's opening bid of holding no Aces. Had he been allowed to play the hand at one saving, since, with the normal opening of a Diamond, he would have been set but one trick; whereas the opening made gains at Spades

East's position to the right of the South's bidding dictated a Spade bid, which he could not avoid.

Had he been on the left of the South's bidding, his proper declaration would have been a negative double.

Contract: At Contract, West, holding five Probable Tricks in support of Spades, should raise his partner's bid of two to three. East, himself holding five Probable Tricks, should then bid four Spades for game.

The Play

South opens the King of Clubs and is allowed to win the trick.

Continuance of the suit with West out of the accomplishment by East

(Declarer) of the attempted Bath

Coup.

South, warned of this attempt by his partner's play of the 2 of Clubs, shifts in the King of Diamonds.

East, winning with his singleton

Ace, South's correct shift at this point would have been to trump but for the almost certain loss of a trick should he do so.

East leads the Ace of Hearts and then crosses to two Hearts and two

Diamonds. South's King of Hearts and Queen of Diamonds falling,

South is marked as out of both suits.

East then leads a low trump to Dummy's King, returning the 8 of Trumps. North showing out. South is marked with the Queen of Spades and also with three Clubs, one of which is the Queen. Accordingly

East throws South in with the complishing his earlier attempted

COURT TO RULE ON RAY STATE RAID SEIZURE

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The government has asked the Supreme Court to decide the right of industrial establishments to recover property seized in connection with a violation of the prohibition law.

The controversy selected as a test case arose in Massachusetts in 1928 when an electric lighting plant was seized by federal prohibition agents in a raid on the Elk Breeding and Crating Association at Middleboro.

An electric plant furnished by the Kohler Company was installed in a building on the association's farm, and a last installment of the purchase price became due a day after the seizure.

As the owner of the plant, the Kohler Company demanded its return and the Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the claim on the ground that it had not been used in or designed for the unlawful manufacture of liquor.

Taking the position that this construction was narrow and defeated the purpose of the prohibition law and the plant was forfeitable under the law, the government asked the highest court to make a ruling to guide it in the enforcement of the prohibition law.

Tomorrow morning at nine . . . we start, what we believe to be, the greatest Sale of Furniture ever held in this City! We are twenty-three years old! Starting in a small way . . . twenty-three years ago . . . we are today . . . The Largest, Livest and Fastest Growing Furniture Organization in New England! This Sale has been in preparation for months. We combed the markets of America for values that we believe have never before been equaled! Ordinarily our tremendous buying and selling power allow us to retail for much less than elsewhere . . . but now we are even outdoing ourselves! Manufacturers have been most anxious to co-operate with us, by allowing us special discounts on merchandise, etc. . . . so that we COULD sell a whole lot cheaper. The only way you can get the full meaning of this sale is to be here and see for yourself just how big this event really is! Be here when the doors open at nine tomorrow! Extra salespeople to serve you!

WOMAN IS HALF WAY ON 7000 MILE TRAIL

Maracaibo, Venezuela, Sept. 27 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, explorer of aerial highways, rested today at his halfway point in his trail-blazing 7000-mile air mail tour of the West Indies, Latin America and Mexico.

The flying colonel is not idle during his stop-over here on the flight over the northern coast of South America from Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, to Cristobal, Canal Zone, first leg of his home-bound journey. He made plans for a survey tomorrow of a new Venezuelan air mail route, sponsored by Pan-American Airways.

TWO PAIR PASSENGERS.
Cooperating with Lindbergh in the preparations for the survey was Juan T. Tripp, President of Pan-American Airways and a passenger on the Caribbean circle tour.

Mrs. Lindbergh and Mrs. Tripp, also passengers on the flight, expected to spend the day resting sightseeing in this Venezuelan town.

Col. Lindbergh flew here yesterday over the 45-mile coast line between Port of Spain, Trinidad. En route, the flying colonel completely climbed over the bow of the big amphibian to make photographs from the anchor compartment of the territory over which the plane passed.

ON HOMEWARD WAY.
Lindbergh's schedule tomorrow calls for a 7 o'clock departure on the 17 mile hop to Guayana, Dutch West Indies. Thence, he will fly to Maracaibo, 225 miles, where the party expects to have lunch. The last stop of the day will be made at Barranquilla, Colombia, where the plane is expected to arrive at 10 o'clock.

The flier will conclude his tour over the South American coast Sunday as he flies to Cristobal, Canal Zone, where a nine-day stop will be made before the last leg of the home-bound journey to Miami.

Swindler of R. I. Girls Is Punished

New York, Sept. 27 (Frederick Bell, 30, who pleaded guilty to charges of swindling servants of the Rhode Island "Gold Coast" out of thousands of dollars, today was sentenced to from five to 10 years in Sing Sing.

While a manager at Narragansett Pier, R. I., Bell took $100,000 from domestics of rich people on the guise of investing it for them. He was found in Monroe, La., almost penniless and running a small grocery store.

Got His Dope Even While in Prison

After police raiders said they had found 250 grains of morphine in a stocking in his home, Salvatore Glasco, 41, of Brewster st., South Boston, was arrested today charged with unlawful possession of narcotics.

According to the authorities, Glasco, the father of 7 children, admitted having been a "dope" addict for 20 years. He was asked if he had ever tried to take the cure.

"Well," he said, "according to narcotic squad officers, I've been in jail several times but there's always some of the stuff around, so matter where you go."

Today, in the real case of the Glasco, who will find more of opportunities for profitable investment.

SOVIET PLANE IS OFF ON HOP TO ALASKA

Dutch Harbor, Unalakleet, Sept. 27 (AP)—Four Russian aviators flying from Moscow to New York in the "Land of the Soviets" took off at 8:30 a. m. (Pacific time) today on the last leg of their hazardous flight over the stormy north Pacific ocean.

The Russians expected to complete their 700 mile hop to Seward, their first stop on the Alaskan mainland, late this afternoon. They started after a delay of two days because of a southeast gale, which nearly smashed their plane on rocks when it arrived here Tuesday from Attu, farthest west of the Aleutian Islands.

Girl Sues Hospital Over Her Diploma

Judge Carroll in Supreme Court today appointed Atty. Richard M. Walsh to hear the facts in the petition of Janet Beach to compel officers of the Framingham Union Hospital to give her a diploma.

Miss Beach declares the diploma was awarded, then taken back and retained. The hospital officers declare they never have granted degrees.

State Clubs to Launch New Year Thursday

The Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will formally open its club year next Thursday, when the first monthly meeting of the officers and chairman of the departments will be held at the Hotel Vendome at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Axel A. Packard, state president, who takes up her Boston residence at the Republican Women's Club on October 1, moving in from Springfield, will preside and outline the program in an all-day session. This session will introduce new department chairmen and new officers to the demands of their duties and serve as a renewal of friendships and acquaintances.

Department chairmen who take up their work for the first time are: Miss Phoebe Lee Hooper of Orange, chairman of literature, succeeding Mrs. Harlan T. Weston; Mrs. Lauren L. McMaster of Wakefield, chairman of the American Home, succeeding Mrs. Ralph H. Reed; and Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge of Maynard, who succeeds Mrs. David D. Nickerson as chairman of education.

New chairman of special committees include: Mrs. Homer Angell of Swampscott, chairman of meetings, succeeding Mrs. Frederic M. Brewster; Mrs. J. P. Deane of Boston, chairman of the education committee, succeeding Mrs. Joseph E. Child; and Mrs. Herbert E. Child of Newton Upper Falls, chairman of the social service committee, succeeding Mrs. Ernest L. Brown.

The new committee on Federation history is headed by Mrs. Frederick Gause Smith of Somerville, and includes Mrs. Walter A. Hall of Swampscott and Mrs. Joseph S. Leach of Waltham. Another innovation of this year is the enlargement of the education committee, of which Mrs. J. L. Pigeon of East Boston is chairman, to a membership of 25 women. That legislation is to be particularly stressed by the State Federation is clearly evidenced in its change. The importance of less than has been brought to the attention of clubs of the Federation with a request that it receive a conspicuous place on club programs.

Other changes in the departments include the placing under the general department title of American citizenship, the following activities: Civil Service, Mrs. Mary E. O'Brien, of Boston, chairman, law observance, Mrs. Robert J. Culbert of Roxbury, chairman, citizenship training, Mrs. Arthur G. Webster of Southbury, chairman, and international unity in America, Mrs. Charles N. Tienfort of Jamaica Plain, chairman.

The department of public welfare, of which Mrs. Parker is the adviser, now includes five subdivisions as follows: Community service, Mrs. Fred L. Cross, Springfield, chairman, cooperation with war veterans, Mrs. Paul A. Peters, West Roxbury, chairman, Mother, child, and child welfare, Mrs. May Tice, Dickinson, Kimball, Boston, chairman, public health, Mrs. Anna C. Palmer, Milton, chairman, and social welfare, including mental hygiene, correction, philanthropy, wage earners and protective measures, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Albert Bradley Carter, Boston.

Mrs. Thomas J. Walker of Whitinsville, chairman of club institutes, will again open this keenly anticipated and well worth-while department for the fall club year, the same day at the Hotel Vendome. Mrs. Parker will briefly state the "Spirit of the Federation," her endorsement of this so successful project.

Those things which club presidents and executives want to know are discussed and debated at club institutes and those which will take up the time of the first meeting in "The Obligations of Club Officers," led by Mrs. Walter A. Hall of Swampscott, former Ninth District director. The Value of Publicity in Club and Community, championed by Mrs. Hastings Hawes of Brockton, former editor of Club News and "The Much Time of Our Regular Meetings Should We Give to State Chairmen of Departments," outlined by Mrs. Robert, President of Arlington Association of club women, during the warm weather months, particularly those of Western Massachusetts members, will be the topic of Mrs. P. M. Lynch, director of the 14th District. The summer activities of the Cape clubs will be outlined in a report to be given by Mrs. Ralph H. Snow, of Harwichport, First District director.

WEDFORD WOMEN'S CLUB. The vice-president of the club will have charge of the opening meeting of the 27th season of this group of 350 members. It is scheduled for the Medford Women's Clubhouse, Governors ave. Those in charge are Mrs. Clara H. Wells, Mrs. Nellie T. Knowlton and Mrs. May B. Redding, all second in command of the club of which Mrs. Margaret H. Pate is the chief executive.

An interesting program has been arranged. Mrs. Caroline E. Robinson and the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. Knute C. Hordley is the chairman have charge of the civil hour. On the 28th, a 12 executive board will conduct an afternoon bridge at the clubhouse.

BIG MAJESTIC PARADE WINS PRAISE

Was it a parade? It certainly was! Not in a generation has Boston seen its like. Nearly a half-dozen decorated cars, trucks and floats. Beautiful girls, bands and musical salons.

The contestants in the Miss Majestic Popularity Contest were being conducted by Gregory Groun Co. makers of Majestic Radio, and their associate dealers certainly created a sensation yesterday afternoon as their automobile parade swept through downtown Boston and the suburban districts.

Following in Whippet and Willys-Knight sedans furnished by the Boston Whippet-Knight Corporation, and decorated in honor of the occasion, the contestants and 25 guests from the "Fellow Thru" company, new players at the Majestic Theater, were the center of attention in all parts of the city and attracted crowds wherever the procession halted.

Among the contestants who rode in the parade were Mrs. Helen M. Elroy, Somerville; Miss Gladys Keller, South Weymouth; Miss Lillian Adams, Winton; Miss Ellen Sellon, Roxbury; Miss Katherine Kerrigan, South Boston; Miss Elizabeth Begg, Roxbury; Miss Katherine Lynch, Roxbury; Miss Madeline Neuner, South Boston; Miss Mary Gustin, South Boston; Miss Frances Green, South Boston; Miss Lillian Vengli, W. Roxbury; and Miss Madeline O'Hare, Brookline.

Competition among the dealers whose floats were entered in the parade was doubly keen because of the prizes offered by the sponsor of the contest for the most attractive and original float.

The winner of the first prize of $100 was John Alden Radio Sales Company, Elm St., Somerville; second prize of $75 was awarded to the Bernard Radio Company, Stuart St., third prize of $50 went to N. Sullivan, Inc., Washington St., fourth prize of $25 was won by Imperial Radio Company, Washington St.

In addition to the interest caused by the parade, contestants and their friends were eager to learn the names of the winners. The fortunate contestants who had been awarded free airplane rides as a prize of the contest, and as a result of a drawing for the prize, the following have been named as the lucky girls:

Mary Carl, Roxbury; Lillian DeTouze, Somerville; Evelyn L. Ellis, E. Braintree; Frances Green, Weymouth; Ruth Richter, Boston; Anna Demarko, Roxbury; Marion Mountain, South Boston; Rose, Cambridge; Elizabeth Stet, Roxbury; Laura Lucas, Boston; Gladys Keller, So. Weymouth; Lillian Purdum, Weymouth; Lillian Adams, So. Boston; Mildred Driscoll, Boston; Ruth MacDonald, Boston; Betty Kelly, So. Boston; Louise Grimley, Boston; and Romona Hawkins, Jamaica Plain.

These girls will be the guests of Miss Majestic at the Majestic Field in Revere Sunday afternoon, where they will exhibit type monoplane of the Old Colony Air Transport will be used to fly them to the following trips over the North and South shores and Metropolitan Boston.

SHORT FEATURES
Perhaps one of these lucky girls will later be Miss Majestic, winner of the great contest itself. Perhaps she is one of the other eleven girls and women who have entered the contest—or she may be one who has not yet filed her name but will do so in the near few days.

The airplane rides are only one special feature of the contest. There are to be announced tomorrow, the battle of balloons that will result in the winning of a prize. Contestants and their friends are saving and eating the various kinds of balloons that float toward the great contest. They are using every one of the ways to swell their total. Newspaper coupons worth 50 cents each are being clipped from the Boston Evening American, patrons of the B. E. Keith Theater for the showing of "The Cook and the Chef" and patrons of the Keith-Albee Theater are filling out the coupons given to them as they enter.

Had Time of their Lives

Members of the "Fellow Thru" company, now playing at the Majestic Theater, were guests of the Miss Majestic Popularity Contest management in the huge automobile parade.

ter the theaters and are departing them in the conveniently located ballroom in the theater lobby. Each such ballroom counts for 20 votes. Other ballrooms with many votes are the ballrooms of the Majestic Theater, where the center of attention in all parts of the city and attracted crowds wherever the procession halted.

Among the contestants who rode in the parade were Mrs. Helen M. Elroy, Somerville; Miss Gladys Keller, South Weymouth; Miss Lillian Adams, Winton; Miss Ellen Sellon, Roxbury; Miss Katherine Kerrigan, South Boston; Miss Elizabeth Begg, Roxbury; Miss Katherine Lynch, Roxbury; Miss Madeline Neuner, South Boston; Miss Mary Gustin, South Boston; Miss Frances Green, South Boston; Miss Lillian Vengli, W. VERMONT'S CRY IS FOR RAIN

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 27 (AP)—Unless conditions are relieved by a rainfall of considerable duration the forest fire menace will approach serious proportions, Robert M. Ross, commissioner of forestry, said today.

He said that the woods are exceptionally dry for this time of year and that conditions today are essentially as they were before a heavy rainfall checked the fire menace two weeks ago. Leaves killed by the recent frost have fallen, and dried, contributing another dangerous element, he said.

Lindy to Snap Cities Built Before Christ

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—As Charles A. Lindbergh flies above the jungles of Central America, seat of the continent's highest ancient civilization, Dr. John R. Merriam, president of Carnegie Institution of Washington, predicts he will find, lost in uncharted mazes of dense forest and tropical jungle, hitherto unknown cities that were built before Christ and vanished long before the white man's discovery of the New World.

Lindbergh will lead an expedition sponsored by the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Pan American Airways Inc., New York, into regions not yet penetrated by white men.

MAINE BANKER FREED ON BAIL

Auburn, Me., Sept. 27 (AP)—Walter H. Davis, treasurer of the People's Savings Bank of Lewiston, who for 10 days had been in the county jail here charged with larceny in the alleged embezzlement of $30,000 of bank funds, was free on bail today.

The $25,000 bail set by Municipal Judge Elton Fayle was furnished by the banker's wife, Mrs. Gertrude Davis, and John H. Mahoney, of Lewiston.

GERMANS FIGHT U. S. CLAIMS ON NEW EVIDENCE

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—New evidence in the $10,000,000 sabotage claims against Germany, based upon alleged responsibility of German agents for the Black Tom and Kingsland, N. J., disasters of 1916 and 1917, soon to be laid before the mixed claims commission.

The evidence tells how the late Wasmak, who worked at the Kingsland foundry and had been widely sought for more than 12 years, appeared at the office of the German agent of the commission in Washington several weeks ago, admitted the Kingsland fire started at his work bench, denied he was in the service of Germany and said he had lived in New York while the search for him was in progress.

The new evidence also purports to meet United States charges implicating Kurt Janko, admitted head of the German secret, 1917, in this country during the war, who returned to his home and became a member of the Prussian East and Lubal Wetzke, the only German tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged as a spy in the United States, and whose sentence was later commuted.

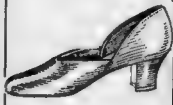

Wasmak is said to have declared he never "disappeared" as the United States agent holds in and after the first investigation. Wasmak offers to show that he wrote, from Chicago, a letter to his parents, dated two days before the explosion for which the same man was held, with a letter and one Mike Kozoff, responsible Krimoff died last year.

HELD NO 'BOOZE PARTIES' WITH DRY AGENTS

Drug Clerks Held for U. S. Grand Jury on Woman Sleuth's Story

Denial that she was elected from her home in Astoria, Ore., because she and prohibition agents had staged drinking parties, featured the testimony of Mrs. Frances Cochran, a government informer, when she appeared today as principal witness against two drug clerks charged with the sale of liquor.

The defendants, William F. Maroney and Joseph Sullivan, clerks, employed by the Peary Drug Co., Columbia ave., South End, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney charged with selling half pint of liquor to the women.

After hearing Mrs. Cochran testify that she had no difficulty in purchasing the Peary Drug Co. men, Commissioner Jenney held them in bonds of $250 each for the grand jury.

Under cross-examination by Atty. Daniel J. Gallagher, Mrs. Cochran stated that she has not been employed since leaving the government service in August and that she has been living on the street since August.

She admitted having worked for the government as an informer for 10 days.

GORDON GOES BACK TO CONER

Judge Lummus Acts on Plea of Eastern Steamship Company: $300,000 Given Up

A substantial part of the $21,500,000 stolen from the Eastern Steamship Co. by George W. Gordon, auditor, will be returned to the company through a decree issued today by Judge Lummus, ordering the National Shawmut Bank and the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank to release funds now on deposit.

Approximately $200,000 in money, jewelry, stocks and bonds, sent to Ray Weichman at Detroit, one of the alleged conspirators in the case, has already been returned to the company.

The decree of Judge Lummus affects $24,000 in the Shawmut bank, deposited by Nellie Hessel, sister-in-law of Gordon as trustee for Weichman and $22,000 in the Five Cents Savings Bank, standing in the name of Eva E. Gordon, wife of the auditor, as trustee for Betty Hessel.

Gordon is serving nine to 13 years in States prison for larceny of the money. Nellie Hessel is serving a sentence at the Woman's Reformatory. Eva Gordon and Weichman have completed terms at Charles at jail in the same case.

114 CADETS YET 'AT SEA' HERE

Tombles of the 114 Hungry cadets of the Massachusetts Naval training school ship Kewauket did not end today when, at the close of their around-the-world voyage they dropped anchor off the Merchants and Miners pier.

If the amateur mariners, who have claimed they would properly feed during their trip, were to remain to get quickly ashore to honor Boston's brand, they were disappointed.

No sooner had they furled sails and done the other labor of making all snug aboard their brigantine than up puffed the police boat. Watchman, commanded by Sergeant Irti Curtin.

The current may not be a deep sea sail, but he has a real blue water skipper's voice.

"You gent's can't park here," he informed the Nantucket's personnel in tones that echoed from Customs House tower to Boston wharf. "Get out of the channel in some place where you won't be blocking traffic."

So the "hungry" 114 had to climb out of their shore-going clothes, don their soiled dungarees, and get back to their posts on deck. Anchor was weighed, steam raised, lookouts posted, and the nice maneuver of changing place in the crowded harbor was undertaken.

SPEEDER HITS WINDOW IN MARKET

Charlestown Man Held, but Denies He Was Driving the Car, Which Was Stolen

Believing they have found another lone end of the Charlestown speeder racket, police are seeking a man said to have been the driver of the automobile which crashed into the plate glass window of the Concord square market on Tremont at South End.

A man giving the name of John J. McInnis, alias Hurley, of Cook st., Charlestown, an occupant of the car, was caught by Julius Cohen, one of the proprietors of the market. He was arrested and taken to the police station.

He was arrested and taken to the police station. He was arrested and taken to the police station.

Other police investigations are being conducted to locate a fruit peddler, believed to have been injured by flying glass, and for the owner and occupants of a motor truck which was struck by the speeding machine before it went through the window of the market.

The machine was found to be registered in the name of John Brown, 634 Myrtle ave., Somerville. Police located him at his place of residence and found him at work. He declared the car had been stolen.

Questioned by police of East Dedham station, McInnis, who first said his name was Hurley, declared the operator of the car was one Melville Smith of Medford.

Witnesses declared the car in which Smith was driving was being ridden was speeding along Tremont st. toward the south and hit the rear wheel of a motor truck before vaulting over the sidewalk and crashing into the window.

The fruit peddler who was cut by the flying glass is said to have promised to seek treatment from a doctor. He did not give his name.

NEW IDEAS FOR HOUSEWIVES
AT SCHOOL
Martha Lee's Club Members to Hear Latest Ideas From Lilla Cross

Every experienced housewife," says Martha Lee, "knows the mental and physical strain resulting from getting into a rut in such matters as menu planning, selections of foods, marketing, etc., and table settings. Through presentation of this method Mrs. Lilla F. Cross, as lecturer at the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser free cooking school, next week, at the Hotel Statler, will perform a public-spirited service in suggesting many new ideas to housewives of Boston and lectures will be to keep the household abreast of progress by reminding her of what is good, and how to get it if it is not available in the shops and ingredients. Any woman attending the school and interested in the work will be given a card, and smoothly will be greatly benefited by these informal sessions.

All women in Boston and those who come from the surrounding communities are cordially invited to be present at these lectures. There will be many interesting gifts each day, such as well-filled market baskets of provisions and delicacies, and gifts from merchants and wholesalers. Cakes, puddings, etc., prepared by Mrs. Cross, will be given away as prizes. The women are going to take home something unusually good for supper.

The major gifts donated by merchants for distribution on Thurson in stage. These gifts are reflected from the standpoint of the artist in additional to the host as items of decoration or utility.

Make preparation to be at the Imperial Edifice of Los Angeles starting early next week, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and for the final session of Thursday, May 14th. Lilla P. Coe, assistant, Mrs. Lee, will start the lectures promptly at 2 o'clock. Those who plan to be on hand early for the most advantageous seats will find the doors open at 1 o'clock.

Buy real seats where the values are. You will find it of valuable profit over your day in the real excitement of the theatrical.

SHARKEY

Great fighter, this Sharkey. He landed a flock of Loughran left jabs in the first round. Then he changed his style. He tagged Tommy with half a dozen hefty rights in the second. Those many rights that make the recipient see the fireworks and page the butterflies. Then to start the third, the Newton squire raged out—flashed like a streak from his corner. He caught the surprised Loughran just stepping up. He flung a right hook at Tommy's jaw.

Nick Flattery. Great fighter, this Sharkey. When the official 10 seconds were over, he slithered over to the groggy Loughran. Jack almost kayaked Referee Lou Magnolia trying to get to his anchored rival. Smart scrapper, this Sharkey.

EXPERTS TAKE IT ON CHIN

Magnolia pushed him back, and lifted the Sharkey hand. This Sharkey had put over a kayo in as clever and deadly a manner as anybody ever saw. Forty-five out of 48 New York experts picked Loughran. The same 45 are busy today, explaining the lucky Sharkey punch.

But the punch wasn't lucky. It was a cold, calculated sock. A mean, measured hook that tagged the bottom and sent Tommy right out of the picture. Loughran admitted that he didn't know what had happened until he was in his dressing room, being rubbed and massaged back to consciousness. This all happened at the Yankee Stadium, where $350,000 trickled through the gate. The boys had tried to make little of this fight, to call it a battle of romans. But young Mister Sharkey surged through with plenty of class and ferocity. They can't take it away from Jack, now. They must admit that he can fight. He has flattened another idol, knocked a pseudo hero deadlier than a pickled herring. He's the heavyweight champion of the world now, and even New Yorkers must admit it.

JACK WON LIKE CHAMPION

The promise that Sharkey showed in fights with Wills and Maloney and Delaney blossomed forth in this great feat. Jack had to win this one or retire to the Newton villa. He won it, and how. Just as a champ should; as only a champ could.

You may tell your folks that J. Sharkey will be up at the head of the heavyweights for quite a few years; until Schaaf or some one of the kids come along to dispossess him.

It wasn't a fight to rave or scorch about. It was just a heartless attack waged by a big guy on what you might call a little fellow. Loughran had packed on 10 pounds for the war. He went in, trying to fan his way through.

He hit Sharkey with a dozen left jabs in the first round, mean pokes that reddened the Squire's beaver, and brought a trickle of blood from his nose. The first round made the gang believe that Loughran, the master boxer, might clever his way through.

Tommy was fighting a clever bird, though. A young man who could figure and think more quickly than the hero of a thousand battles. A new Sharkey came out for the second.

Great fighter, this Sharkey. He came out for that second, all changed over. He didn't lead with his left and get stabbed any more. He weaved under the Loughran jabs, and cut loose with a right hook, a beautiful hook that lunched off the Loughran chin and sent Tommy rocking back on his heels.

WHO CAN LICK SHARKEY?

Smack, smack, smack, went that right. Tommy was weak when the round ended, and the result was only a matter of time.

Sharkey had fought another great fight, one more smart battle, and they can scour the world for a suitable rival, and find one—maybe.

We sort of predicted the result these last few days. The big Sharkey seemed to be a standout. He had the urge, and wanted to win. He did that and made a million and one people think again that a great new slugger has appeared. They hate to give Jack credit, but now they must. He's at the top, has earned the throne, and will laugh a million-dollar smile when they try to knock him off.

James Edward Maloney, the second John L., as they used to call him, stepped into the picture as the first through was still gasping over the Loughran knockout. James was tossed in with Jack Gagnon, one of the Sharkey sparring partners.

And James hit Jack with everything but the electric lights. He had the husky Frenchman wobbling and gagging. The thumps he pinned on the Gagnon chin were heard up in the Bronx.

MALONEY VERY POPULAR

But Jimmy got anxious when he had the enemy groggy. He waded in, swinging lefts and rights. They all landed, but a few of them were low. Jimmy was warned in the sixth. After a couple of minutes in the seventh, with Gagnon out on his feet, a low blow parked on the Frenchman. At last, Magnolia had to give the fight to the substitute.

The announcer gave the fight to Maloney, so then Magnolia had to return to the ring and make an explanatory speech. Jimmy, it might be mentioned, made himself very popular again.

Semi-Pro Elevens

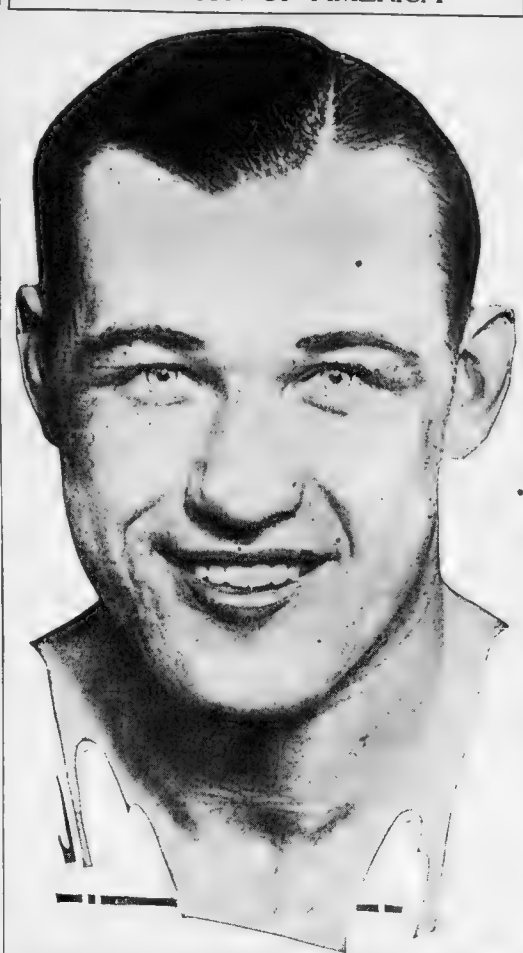

Open on Sunday

Semi-professional football gets going with a bang Sunday with several teams slated for Boston or the near vicinity. The Fittions of East Boston will entertain the Robury A. A. at Ft. Banks, Park Marquette at the C. J. Lee "Park, South Boston, and the newly organized Dillboy team of Somerville opens its season against the Roche Club of Everett at Dillboy Field. At Salem, the new Salem Legion will battle the Dorchester Steamers.

CHAMPION OF AMERICA

Jack Sharkey, above, who established himself as king of American heavyweights by his knockout victory over Tommy Loughran. Jack is now ready to claim world title.

B. U. TEAM OFF FOR ARMY GAME

A band of 26 players, three coaches and two managers will make up Boston University's football party, which will leave today for the games with West Point. The Terrier squad is in the best of condition and spirits after three weeks of intensive practice for the season's opener with the Army and it will be a sorely disappointed group of players to return to Boston if they don't give the Army the hardest kind of a battle.

Two years ago a B. U. team that was not as far advanced as the present team or equipped with as good material journeyed to West Point and held their powerful opponents to two touchdowns. Both Army scores were made within the first five minutes of play and the remainder of the game the Terriers held the Cadets on even terms.

A's Fail to Impress Fans as Champions

By JOE CASHMAN
Athletes that faced the Red Sox in the first game of their current series.

These Athletics are the same gang that won the pennant but now they are not even a good second division outfit. They have the series already won in their opinion. They have no more need to think of baseball. All they have to do from here on is to strut around with their chests out, auto-tour, and plan how they are going to spend the winners' share of the classic.

Such a contented gang of athletes hasn't been seen in baseball for a long while. They will get murdered by the Cubs unless they come back to town, forget about the spotlight and start playing ball again.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY TO BATTLE B. C. IN OPENER AT FENWAY PARK

Boston College and Catholic University clash at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. This contest will pry on the local grid lid, and being the only game hereabouts almost 15,000 fans are expected to march into the Red Sox ball arched.

Catholic University, usually a first game setup, looks like a real hurdle to Boston College this season. C. U. has six good veterans in the starting lineup and five more hustling youngsters to support their cause.

Boston College has five veterans in its eleven. But they lost the seven men from last year's club who were really responsible for crushing it. They are the linemen as Eastern champions Al Weston, Capt. Warren McCalla, Don Sherban, Tom Smith, George Wileczkowski and Ben Hur Killy. They won't be fighting for Joe McKenney tomorrow.

The Eastern playing lineup, announced by Coach McKenney today, finds John Dixon and Charlie Murphy ends; Henry Fitzsimons and Jack Young, tackles; Al Morrell and John McKenney, guards; Andy Anderson, center; Capt. Paddy Creedon, quarterback; Joe Miler and Joe Shea, halfbacks, and John Marr, fullback.

PLAYERS UNTESTED
On paper this looks like a real football team. But the players are untested. Coach McKenney doesn't know whether this eleven will function. Whether they'll be able to score enough touchdowns to win.

Title Go Is Off; English Champ Dies Suddenly

London, Sept. 27 (INS)—English Flyweight Champion Johnny Hill, who had been matched to fight Frankie Goetz of the United States, died in his sleep from a burst blood vessel in the lung, according to word received here today from Strathgill, Scotland. Hill's home.

There was some difficulty about Goetz getting into England. Promoter Dickson claimed to have received information that the British immigration authorities would not permit Goetz to land.

SCHOOLBOY ELEPHANTS IN ACTION

A as a preface to tomorrow's final list of wholeness and gladiators there are five attractive games billed for today.

St. Anselm's College will play R. C. Freshmen at Alumni Field; North Attleboro plays at New Bedford Vocational; Abington travels to Milton; B. C. High meets Jamaica Plain at Rindge Park; Rindge and Boston's Trinity appears at Charlestown at Healy playground; Rindge and Boston's Trinity appears at Charlestown at Healy playground; Rindge and Boston's Trinity appears at Charlestown at Healy playground.

R. C. Freshmen have a coming aggression and should defeat the St. Anselm eleven. Rindge and Trinity, however, are playing well for the day.

David Smith, an Abington boy, played guard on the Saints' team, Smith started for Abington High last season.

North Bedford Vocational is favored to defeat North Attleboro at New Bedford. The Whaling City team lost to Harvard last Saturday but will not meet the same brand of opposition today.

Abington, the team which defeated the Brookline team two weeks ago, descends on Milton. The playing game of the visitors made them favorites to win.

Tyler is outstanding in the Abington backfield. This year will be the opener for Milton, but Coach Taylor is confident that his boys will give a good account of themselves in their initial effort.

R. C. High has lost its quarterback, Nick Morris, but even without Morris R. C. is picked to defeat a green Jamaica Plain team today.

Lilla will probably be seen in the Marine and Gold backfield with Jack Cronin, Stapleton and Bobby Ott.

Jack Sharkey Claims Heavyweight Title

START OF GO THAT MEANT K. O. FOR TOM

MOST FIGHT SCHMELING AND SCOTT

feet him. The new Sharkey will prove one of the greatest champions of all time." William Muldoon, veteran member of the New York Athletic Commission, stated that Sharkey would be recognized as the American heavyweight champion as a result of his win over Loughran. Sharkey has proved he is the best of the American heavyweights," said Muldoon. "The New York Commission will not recognize anybody as world's champion until Max Schmeling and Phil Scott have had an opportunity to battle for the title."

Scott eliminated Victorio Campolo, champion of South America. If Sharkey can now defeat Scott and Schmeling, he will have a clear claim to the title. I went on record more than three years ago as being of the opinion that Sharkey is one of the greatest heavyweights to come to the front in recent years."

ON THE WAY HOME
Sharkey, as happy as a school boy starting on a holiday, passed along Broadway today on the way to Boston. He was at the wheel of one of his cars and was accompanied by Mrs. Sharkey. "I'm on my way home to the kids," said Jack. "I haven't seen them for more than three weeks. That's the tough thing about the training camp."

Asked who he wanted to fight next, he said: "I'll tackle Schmeling, Scott or anybody else. Bill Carey of the Garden selects. I don't believe any fighter should pick his opponent. I want to be recognized by the press and fans as heavyweight champion of the world and believe that the best way to reach my objective is by beating every bird who disputes my claim right on the chin."

JACK SCARES HIS WIFE.
"Jack gave me a scare following his great victory," said Mrs. Sharkey. "I never attend any of Jack's fights and, as is my custom, I remained in my hotel room alone. I like to be alone at such times. I am nervous and can pray for Jack without any interruptions. I always wait for Jack to tell me how his bouts come out. He usually calls me on the telephone. "I didn't expect to hear from him until around 11 o'clock. Much earlier I heard a rap on my door. I opened the door and Jack was outside. "I'm sorry, dear," said Jack, as he took me in his arms. "I thought he had lost and started to weep a little bit. I knocked him out, went on Jack, and my tears became tears of joy."

Loughran Wants Return Bout With Sharkey
New York, Sept. 27.—While a rumor that Tommy Loughran had died swept out of New York today through every large city in this country and even to Europe, the gentleman who received a plane letter from Jack Sharkey last night was seeking a return engagement. Save for the usual business incidental to battle, Loughran was in excellent health and in the mood to meet the widespread report of his death.

Then through his manager, Joe Smith, the defeated heavyweight announced he would like to meet the "Squire of Chestnut Hill" again. "Tommy gives full credit to Sharkey for his great victory, but would like to get a return engagement with the Boston contender," said Smith. "Loughran has no intention of allowing his K. O. at the hands of Sharkey to halt his ring career."

The origin of the rumor that Loughran was dead could not be traced. Apparently it originated in the financial district. It was carried on stock tickers throughout the country, and before noon it was in Europe. In the meantime, Loughran ate a hearty, late breakfast and made his return to his Philadelphia home to await the outcome of his battle for another chance at Mr. Sharkey.

Top photo shows start of battle in New York between Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran, which go was won by Sharkey, on a knockout. The lower section shows Sharkey stepping away from Loughran just after the terrific blow that showed Sharkey to have punch of a great heavyweight. JIM MALONEY LOSES BOUT ON FOUL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Jack Gagnon took a terrific beating from Jim Maloney, in the scheduled 10-round semi-final, but was awarded the bout on a foul after two minutes.

Gagnon almost collapsed on his feet before Referee Lou Maczonia stopped the contest, disqualifying Maloney for a low punch. Gagnon had been down for small counts twice, in the first round and again in the seventh. Maloney was every round up until the time the match was terminated.

Scored for the count of three in the first round with a right to the head. Gagnon got up and lashed the round by a courageous effort. Gagnon was willing, but he was no match for Maloney. In the fourth and fifth rounds, Maloney set Gagnon back on his heels with hard blows to the head.

Maloney won the sixth round all the way, landing two punches to the opponent's nose. Maloney again floored Gagnon in the seventh round, dropping him for a count of three with a hard punch to the head. Gagnon was game and got up to keep mixing with Jim.

I have always maintained that the American heavyweights are the best in the world. They have ruled the ring from the days of John L. Sullivan. I am confident that I shall live up to the highest traditions of the American ring and prove the rightful successor to Gene Tunney.

I declared that I would knock Loughran out, and I was tickled to keep my promise to the fans. The public has been craving for a heavyweight to come along with a knockout punch. I shall try to satisfy their thirst for action.

It was a right-hand punch to the jaw which knocked Loughran out after 27 seconds of fighting in the third round. When the punch landed Loughran dropped to the canvas. I could see instantly that he was in a dazed condition. He got up at the count of five, but it was instant rather than anything else which caused him to do so. He walked into a neutral corner and turned his back on me.

AFTER Loughran had been hit by the right-handed smashes

he refused to come forward. He went on the defensive and his own punches fell short. When I went to my corner at the end of the second round I knew I had Loughran beaten.

So I decided to come out fast for the third round and open fire with my right hand. After 27 seconds of battling, I got Loughran into position and hit my right hand down. Every ounce of energy in my body was behind the blow. It landed, flush on Tommy's chin. As he dropped I knew he was all through (Continued on Page 1, Column 1)

Jack Sharkey's Own Story of Battle
By JACK SHARKEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—I think I am the happiest man in the world as a result of my three-round knockout of Tommy Loughran in our battle at the Yankee Stadium.

The victory gave me the American heavyweight championship and placed me in a position where Max Schmeling and Phil Scott, the foreign heavyweight threats, will have to get by me before they can win the title.

I have always maintained that the American heavyweights are the best in the world. They have ruled the ring from the days of John L. Sullivan. I am confident that I shall live up to the highest traditions of the American ring and prove the rightful successor to Gene Tunney.

THE BALLAD OF THE LONESOME HUSBAND

News Item—

Louisville, Ky.—Jim Moore, in jail for moonshining, led federal officers to his son's still and asked them to arrest him because the father wanted to teach the "boy"—who is forty years of age—season.

Looked up in the jailhouse for making moonshine booze Pap Moore mediated and got religious booze.

It made him mighty downcast to contemplate the crime the youngest son (now forty) indulged in at the time.

So Pappy called the boys and led 'em through the jail.

But they come to what young Bill was 'tendin' of him die.

"Shewy, son," said Pappy, with a sad and mildly wail.

"Law so how you better come along with me 'er jail."

New Bill, at first, was angry and showed it on his face.

"There to me you gone and done me dirty, ain't you, 'er?"

"Ain't no such thing," said Pappy. "Stop that baby 'wain'."

You and me has now reformed an' quit this here moonshinin'."

"Ain't no future in him—figger him a crime—"

I thought it out all fearful like while I was dancin' 'tween."

Bill took out his tobacco, lit off a violent cheer.

"Where boys," he finally whispers, "you don't go nothin' near."

RICHARD J. JAMSON.

"And why not," asks Edward Wade, "call them scream stars?"

WEST FRANKFORT, (Ill.)—Billy Sunday's tabernacle in this coal mining center has been converted into a boxing arena.

Congressman Frick has invented a trick cigar box, pictured below, which the estimate will cost politicians thousands of dollars a day.

By pressing a button the tray of cigars spring up, and out flies a flaming pigeon. The contestant is surprised and amazed, says Frick, and marks you for a very clever man. The candidate then hurries home, catches the pigeon, and returns the trick.
